A ROMANTIC STORY

Tells the Rise of Swift Co. This Week
Celebrating Its Centennial

Meat dealers live stock producers and others are recalling this week the romantic story of the development of Swift & Company, the occasion being the nationwide celebration of the 50th anniversary of Swift & Company's incorporation.

Gustavus Franklin Swift, founder, started in business for himself in 1885
with a capital of $20 when he was 16.
He paid $19 for a neighbor's heifer, dressed it himself and sold the meat
in his little home town on Cape Cod.
In 1875, G. F. Swift reached Chicago a successful retailer, exporter and cattle buyer. He saw nothing but waste in the operations of the meat and live stock industry of that day.
His experiments with refrigerator cars were successful almost immediately and within five years he had, almost single handed, revolutionized the entire meat and live stock industries of the nation. He opened the east as a market for western beef and shipped dressed beef from Chicago in place of the live animals, of which about 40 percent were waste.

The meat industry ranks today as the most efficient distributing agency in America. Veterans attribute this standing in large measure to the vision and hard work of such pioneers as Gustavus F. Swift and his successors in the packing industry.

"THE LATCHSTRING IS OUT"

Fuller-Cobb, Inc. Strikes Twelve With Handsome New Store—Hospitality The Keynote

A peculiarly happy event was the formal opening Tuesday of the new home of Fuller-Cobb Inc., which occupies the southern section of the Thorndike Hotel block. Significant was the fact that well-wishing hundreds braved the storm and thronged the store from the opening hour until closing time. Equally pleasing to President Albert S. Peterson and his associates were the many personally delivered congratulations, dozens of telegraphic messages of good will and numerous beautiful floral offerings.
"Success to you, sir" was the order of the day.

The beginnings of what in the present times became recognized as one of Maine's most prominent department stores, go back to the year 1844, when William Oliver Fuller, a Warren boy, aged 24, of a family descended from Plymouth Rock, arrived in Rockland from Martinsville, St. George, where for the preceding four years he had carried on a "general store," the profits of which, carefully husbanded, had reached a total of $1200. With this ready money, a wife, a daughter in arms and a small grouping of household goods, he landed in Lemond's Cove, climbed up the steep embankment, and at once set himself to business in a small wooden building at the corner of Main and Orient streets. It was a modest presentation of "dry goods and groceries," that under the old-fashioned principles of long hours, thrift and honest dealings took on gradual enlargement, that called in time for additional partnerships. It is in the form of reorganization of the business thus modestly begun and carried on that the present Fuller-Cobb Inc., bearing one of the names associated with it for nearly a century, resumes its place in the active business life of the community. The late Nelson B.

Cobb came into the firm in 1861, remaining until his death in 1932.

The new store 180 feet deep by 34 feet across the front, is handsome in its own right, well proportioned and charming in its wall dress of buff and white with maroon baseboards. The furniture and fixtures blend faithfully, done in natural antique finish, the Wilton carpets being in matching color. The window shades and drapes harmonize, being off-maroon and green. The store is outstandingly a daylight establishment compact and easily accessible, ideal for the advantageous display of merchandise.
The all-glass front, while not yet in its final completion, shows plainly what beauty it will possess with its wide recessed entrance for convenience as well as an entrance on the Tilson Avenue side. One of the commodious front windows will be utilized by the Crockett Baby Shop which is now housed under the Fuller-Cobb Inc., roof, occupying a large space on the northern side of the store.

The offices are located at the rear of the main store, convenient yet in no way complicating the merchandising. All the departments featured in the former store are in evidence with ample space, yet compactly arranged in the modern practice.

On the floor below may be found the drapery fitting and floor-covering departments. The heavy upholstering and cushion work is done at the north end building. The general contract for remodeling was in the hands of W. H. Glover & Co., painting John A. Karl & Co. and wiring, Francis E. Havener.

Fuller-Cobb Inc. is represented in New York by Charles L. Donen Inc., stylists and buyers, market specialists. The new firm will operate on a 30-day accommodation basis and all the old Fuller-Cobb-Davis accounts have been turned over to John Durrell who will maintain an adjustment office adjoining the present Fuller-Cobb Inc. offices. Albert S. Peterson is president and treasurer of the new corporation. Mrs. Louise Drinkwater is secretary.

Mr. Peterson is outspoken in his appreciation of the courtesies extended him in the difficult task of opening the big enterprise at this time by wholesalers, local firms and workmen whose co-operation made the event possible.

Among those sending flowers were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. O'Neil, Miss Carrie Fields, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Mc-Rae, Mrs. Leola Noyes, Mrs. Lillian McRae, Mrs. W. O. Fuller, Mrs. F. K.
Leighton, Mrs. Howard Dunbar, Mrs.
Katharine Burke of Augusta, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shaw, Bridgeport, Conn.

MORE HEROES ARE NAMED

Part Played By North Haven Men After Castine Wreck Is Here Told

A valuable contribution to the story of the wrecking of the steamer Castine is here given by one of our valued North Haven correspondents, Rev. H. F. Huse. It gives well deserved credit which has previously been withheld only because the newsgatherers were not provided with the information.—Ed.]
June 8, 1935, is a date forever fixed in the annals of Penobscot Bay on account of the wreck of the Steamer Castine on South Ledge two miles off from the Vinalhaven shore, near Buoy No. 2 in the dense fog when, had it not been for the providential aid given by the Steamer North Haven, Capt. Roscoe Kent, and his crew, and aid given by Hanley Dyer, Merle Mills and others, not two people would have lost their lives, but possibly and probably the 75 on board the boat.

As the wrecked Steamer Castine looked before the northeast storm of Sunday and Monday completed the work of destruction.—From photos furnished by our Vinalhaven correspondent, Mrs. O. C. Lane.

These belong to Miss Ruth Owen of Evelyn Bartlett names in one, one belonging to Mrs. Cora Evelyn Fuller, and one to Mrs. S. E. Norwood. Capt.

Mills has dried all these things and holds them for the owners.

Not only do these survivors all of them, but residents in all the towns represented among the endangered passengers, salute with gratitude beyond words the heroic assistance that saved so many from death and a watery grave, gratitude to Capt. Kent and his crew of men who manned the life boats; Hanley Dyer, Merle Mills and others who so skillfully found their way to the steamer in the dense fog, aid that had it not been given would have made this wreck a major disaster. Great sympathy is expressed for the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wooster the two people who lost their lives in this sad ending of what had been expected a day of pleasure and fellowship in the meetings of the Limerock Valley Pomona at Vinalhaven.

Mrs. Brown's Experience

Mrs. Annie Brown of Simonton Corner was rescued from the sea in the Castine tragedy by a man unknown to her after holding on to a rope for three-quarters of an hour.
She has been under the doctor's hand for a few days, suffering from a badly injured knee and sore arms.
Mrs. Brown is employed by the William H. Stalkers at Dillingham's Point.

Others on the excursion from Simonton were Mrs. Ralph Cripps and daughters Helen and Marilyn. They fared much better than Mrs. Brown, not even getting wet.

Miss Bartlett Wakening
The condition of Miss Evelyn Bartlett, at Knox Hospital, this morning, shows a gradual weakening. Practically no hope for her recovery is held.

Names Are Wanted
Survivors of the Castine wreck, whose names were not published in Tuesday's issue are asked to forward them as soon as possible to Charles E.
Gregory, Glen Cove. Several have already been received.

A History Suggested

Charles E. Gregory of Glen Cove offers the suggestion that all who were on board the ill-fated craft write out their experiences (preferably upon a typewriter) on a sheet of paper 8x10 1/2 to be preserved as a matter of history in a loose-leaf binder.
Those who do not feel able to tell their story in that limited space are asked to use any size, and the story will be typed. Mail to Charles E.
Gregory, Glen Cove.

Mr. Gregory furnishes these additional names of the Castine's passengers—all from St. George: Mrs.
Harold Solberg, Miss Marie Solberg, Merrill Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rackliff, Mrs. Henry Robinson, Miss Louise Robinson, Alvin Robinson and John Kinney.

Chisholm's Spa curb service is proving very popular. Simply drive up and signal one of the ever ready attendants. Your less or fountain drinks will be promptly served to you in your car.—adv. 70-72

TO "CASTINE" DECKHANDS!

Two men hired by owners of the Steamer Castine to act as deckhands on last Saturday's trip to Vinalhaven, will please communicate immediately with the owners at 13 Cedar St., Belfast, or phone 416. This will be to your advantage as the steamboat inspectors require an interview. 71-73

THE CONVENTION DRAWS NEAR

Something About Next Week's Big Parades—Great Galaxy Of Notables Coming

By the time this paper reaches most of the readers World War buddies from all over the State, and many from neighboring States, will be packing their grips for the trek to Rockland where on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be held the State convention of the American Legion and allied bodies.

By a special arrangement with the copyright owners, the Weather Department advanced its stormy weather one week, so that next week we may have four rare June days, minus those rainstorms which made life miserable for the A.E.F. in France, and with nothing but azure sky for a coverlet. And you must remember that the sky is going to be the limit while these young men and women are on their stay in Rockland.

The full program will appear in our Saturday issue—too early to print it now—but there are a few things that ought to be mentioned here.

The laymen's interest is naturally going to center on parades, of which there will be two.

First, on Monday night, at 7.30 comes the 40 and 8 parade, in which there will be many of the early arriving drum corps, and lots of things calculated to raise a hearty laugh.
The ex-service men are nothing if not ingenious, and they always seek to demonstrate that ingenuity in the parades.

The "big" parade is scheduled to start from the Maine Central railroad crossing at the extreme South-end at 10 a. m. Tuesday. It will proceed north on Main street to Cedar street, west on Cedar street to Broadway, south on Broadway to Park street, east on Park street to Union street, disbanding at the corner of Union and Park streets.

The reviewing stand will be opposite the Elks Home on Main street.
To that veteran of many parades, Major Ralph W. Brown, late of the 24th C. A. Regiment, has been assigned the honor of serving as grand marshal—which means that his parade will start at 10. His chief of staff will be Lieut. Warren O. Feyler of Thomaston. For aides Major Brown will have:

Capt. Almon B. Sullivan, Augusta.
Lieut. George J. Wood, So. Portland.
Austin P. Brewer, Rockland.
Oliver R. Hamlin, Rockland.
Capt. P. B. McCord, Portland.
Capt. J. H. McClure, Bath.
Major Horace Eaton, Sanford.
Capt. Leslie E. Dyer, Vinalhaven.
Capt. Russell D. Gray, New York.
Capt. William Needelman, Portland.
Bugler, Mike Ristano.

In the parade will be at least five bands and 24 or more drum corps.
Escort duty will be performed by the Fifth Infantry Band and the Second Battalion of the 24th C.A. Regiment, comprising Battery E of Rockland and Battery F of Thomaston.

Waldo County has the honor of leading the American Legion Posts by virtue of longest membership gain during the year. Last year, at Bangor, that honor belonged to Winslow.
The parade will bring up the rear as host Post.
Hancock County will be second in line, and Piscataquis third.

The Legion band which marches and plays in the parade, making the best appearance will receive a special prize of $25. The Junior Girls and Boys Drum Corps marching and playing in the parade, making the best appearance will also receive a special prize of $25.

Immediately after the parade will be held the drum corps contests at Community Park, for the following cash prizes:

Maneuvering Corps—First prize, $150; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, $50.
Straight Marching Corps—Prize $30.
Ladies Auxiliary Corps—Prize $25.
Cups will be awarded as special prizes to the winners of the Drum Majors' contest, Latest Organized Corps, Drummers' contest and Buglers' contest.

Distinguished Guests

For the first time in the history of a Department State Convention in Maine a national commander of the American Legion is coming to be guest of honor. That official is Frank N. Belgrano, Jr. of California, who is already speeding across the continent to address his comrades on the opposite coast.

Other distinguished guests, and it will constitute the largest assemblage of national officers ever attending a Department of Maine convention will include:

National Vice Commander, Daniel Doherty, Woburn, Mass.; National Executive Committee, Stephen Garriety, Lowell, Mass.; Morris Devine, Manchester, N. H.; Col. H. Nelson Jackson, Burlington, Vt.; and Col. Basil H. Stinson, Rockland, Me.

Convention Chat

At a special meeting held in Wis-casset, Sunday, Grand Chief de Gare Dr. C. Eugene Fogg, Grand Correspondent, Frank L. Elliott, Grand Sous Conducateur Louis R. Cates representing the Grand Vulture of Maine and Oscar E. Wiseman, Austin P. Brewer, Dr. M. C. Stephenson of Union and Hector G. Staples representing Vulture 1024 here during the Convention activities of the 40 and 8 made final arrangements to entertain what promises to be the largest attended Grand Promenade ever held in Maine.

The latest report is that there will be at least seven bands in the Tuesday parade—the Legion bands from Brunswick, South Portland, Madison and Sanford, the Fifth Infantry of 103d Infantry Band and the Rockland and North Haven bands.

With perhaps 20,000 visitors coming to Rockland to witness Tuesday's parade the suggestion offered by a citizen may not be entirely. In effect it is that local residents—as far as possible—watch the parade from the back streets, allowing strangers to have the vantage point of Main street. As the route is 2 1/2 miles long this can be done very readily. All of the parade will positively pass over the entire route.

The housing committee still needs accommodations in the center of the city for visiting Legionnaires and their wives. If your own home is available, or you know of somebody who has rooms to rent, telephone Legion headquarters—1321—at once and your favor will be appreciated.

Cumberland County is coming to the State Convention with three candidates for department vice commander—J. G. Arzonico of Anderson-Mahberry Post, Yarmouth, William Palmer of Sheepscot, Manchester Post, Westbrook; and Nelson J. Pack-hem of Stuart P. Morrill Post, South Portland.

A FEDERAL PROBE

Being Made On the Castine Disaster—The Wreckage Reaches Ginn's Point

Capt. Oscar Haines of Boston, supervisor of the U. S. Division of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection; Capt. Lorenzo Crowell of Bangor, local steamboat inspector; and Clifford Brady, clerk to the local inspector, began Tuesday what will probably be the only inquiry into the Castine disaster. They first visited Rockland and obtained considerable data, questioning among others Capt. Leighton W. Coombs who was in command of the ill-fated craft; and his brother, Capt. Harry Coombs, who was the engineer, and who, with the captain, owned the uninsured steamboat.

A Bangor despatch, telling of the continuation of the hearing yesterday says:

"Testifying at a hearing in Bangor Wednesday Capt. Leighton W.
Coombs said he could not explain how he happened to go off his course on the run from Rockland to Vinalhaven."

Capt. Leighton Coombs and Capt.
A. Perry Coombs and Chief Deck Hand William W. Roberts of Belfast were examined.

Capt. Leighton Coombs described the trip from Rockland to the place where the little steamer, carrying 75 passengers, struck a portion of a ledge. He said that fog was thick all the way from Rockland and that he kept blowing the whistle at intervals.

The captain said that he heard his boat for the Bay Ledge bell buoy and that when he ran out his time he gave signal first to slow down and then to stop. Hardly had the signal been given than the craft went on the ledge and overturned, he said.
He expressed the opinion that those who lost their lives died from shock, rather than by being drowned.

Engineer Coombs said that he heard the fog whistle of the Castine but did not hear the bell buoy. He said that the boat struck the ledge just after the stop signal was sounded in the engine room. No findings were reported, and after the hearing Capt. Haines went to Searsport.

Wreckage At Ginn's Point

Part of the superstructure of the Castine drifted ashore near the cottage of A. W. Robinson of Natick, Mass., during the night. His cottage is at Ginn's Point.

The wreckage was cast up by a heavy northeast storm and gale. A little farther along the beach near the Herriek cottage were the pilot house and other pieces of wreckage from the craft.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

THE VILLAGE ORACLE

Old Dan! Hanks, he says this town
Is just the best on earth;
He says there ain't none up and down
That's got one-half her worth.
He says there ain't no other State That's good as ours, or near;
And all the folks that's good and great

Says I, "Dyer ever travel, Dan?"
"You bet I ain't," says he
"I tell you what, the place I've got Is good enough for me."

He says the other party's fools Cause they don't vote his way.
He says the feeble-minded schools
Is where they ought to stay.
If he was law, their mouths he'd shut
Or blow 'em all to smash;
He says their platform's nothing but A great big mess of trash.

Says I, "Dyer ever read it, Dan?"
"You bet I ain't," says he
"And when I do—well I tell you, I'll let you know, by gee."

He says that all religion's wrong.
"Cept just what he believes;
In hell or out, the moving throng
Is just the same as this."
He says they take the blessed Word
And tear it all to shreds;
He says their preaching's just absurd;
They're simply leeches here.

Says I, "Dyer ever hear 'em, Dan?"
"You bet I ain't," says he
"I never got to hear 'em, no;
They make me sick to see."

Some tellers reckon more or less Before they speak their mind;
And sometimes calculate or guess,
But them ain't Dan's kind.

The Lord knows all things great or small;
With doubt he's never vexed.
He, in His wisdom, knows it all—But Dan! Hanks comes next.

THE CUCUMBER TREE

Unusual Growth Has Had Place On Park Street Estate For Century

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— How many of your readers know the names and varieties of all the trees that grow in and about Rockland? Possibly Mr. Lermond would be the only letter-perfect person who could hands-up on that question.

Two rare deciduous trees are to be seen on the grounds of Mrs. Annabelle Berry's Park street residence.
One is the Tulip Tree (Liriodendron tulipifera). The other, rarely found north of New Jersey, is known as the Cucumber Tree, and which at this present writing is in full bloom.
The encyclopedia thus describes it:

"Cucumber Tree: A popular name for two trees which bear cucumberlike fruit—one is Averrhoa bilimbi;
the other (which is Mrs. Berry's tree) Magnolia acuminata, of the natural order of the Magnoliaceae. It often attains a height of 90 feet; found from New York to Illinois, and southwest to Arkansas and Gulf states. It bears oval or oblong leaves, greenishyellow flower two or three inches long, in late spring, and cylindrical pink bitter fruit three or four inches long. The timber is useful for boatbuilding."

Mrs. Berry wrote to an authority on forestry at Harvard University, sending him a branch, with leaves,
flowers and buds taken from her tree.
The professor replied that it was a rare specimen, a variety very unusual to be found so far north. So interested was he in the discovery that he made a trip to Rockland to see the tree and verify his analysis that proved it to be the Cucumber tree.
Moreover he expressed great astonishment to find here a specimen of a century's growth and nearly one hundred feet tall.

The Park street estate now owned by Mrs. Berry was built upon some time in the early 40's by Wm. L. Pitts, who came from Carolina, who sold it to Hon. Stephen Thacher, a distinguished lawyer and citizen of that period, who brought up a large family that was long known in the public and social life of Rockland. Two surviving members of the family (Stephen and Josephine) who no long time ago visited the old home, stated to Mrs. Berry that the trees upon it in their time were of small growth, confirming the question of age to which they have attained.

The field day banner which is being made by the Twin Village 4-H of Dumfries, awarded to the club that wins the most number of points for the day. The second and third winning clubs will be awarded with a big watermelon and a peck of peanuts. The leaders winning in the rowing pin contest will be awarded rolling pins. The points of the day are made on the following basis: 10 points for 100% attendance of each club, five points for each club with leaders present. In all games and races, first place counts five points, second place three points, and third place one point.

Ice cream, candy and soda will be on sale, the money going towards the county contest Nov. 2.

THE McCALL FASHION SHOW

Scene in the Senter Crane store during the recent McCall fashion show. No question as to the interest the women were showing.

The annual McCall Fashion Show given at the Senter Crane store Friday and Saturday brought out scores of women bent upon learning the latest in style, colors, materials and what-not. The greater part of them were the thrifty women, who, with the aid of an efficient pattern, are able to produce a dress or ensemble that compares with the swankiest outfit of the ready-made shop.

Miss Hanley was the stylist sent by the McCall people, a charming gracious lady, who was thoroughly familiar with her subject. The attractive models were Miss Lucy French, Mrs. Betty Vafiades, Miss Alice Flanagan, Miss Charlotte Mattattall, Mrs. Jane Hall, Miss Dorothy Prescott and Miss Elzada North.

Miss Hanley told her groups that every woman has ideas about clothes, but unless she makes her own things or has them made, it is almost impossible to express them. When you buy a dress, you are buying the ideas and preference of someone else.
When you make your own clothes,
you are developing your own ideas and clothes philosophy. You can have any subtle color for a well-stocked fabric section can supply any color under the sun. And with as complete a style presentation as Mc-Call Patterns offer each month, you can satisfy any whim you may have as to the kind of sleeve you want, the width of your skirt, or the height of your neckline.

The 40 or more costumes on display stressed the facts Miss Hanley set forth. The collection included every fashion item one could think of and many more. The suit was highlighted; so was the important shirtmaker frock. There were prints shown again and again, both for daytime and for evening, and plain fabrics in all manner of novelty weaves.

In the sports picture were shorts, subbacks, jacket costumes and the new trouser-skirt. For weekends and vacation there was the Tahitian bathing suit, and for formal evenings

there were prim robes de style as well as more sophisticated gowns.
"Capes are one of the most important items of all this season," Miss Hanley pointed out. "And they're not any longer, as a rule, but a lot fuller than we've been used to seeing them. Quite a romantic, swashbuckling sort of fashion!"

Next to capes there are lots of jackets to be reckoned with, the new ones either very swaggy and full in cut, or very thin affairs for wear with sports costumes. To illustrate her remarks on the importance of the suit this season, Miss Hanley showed two particularly striking models in the collection—one a typically British tailored suit of a blue and brown checked cotton, expressing the mannish version of the suit mode, and the other a printed silk taffeta suit in a tiny necktie motif, that, with its flyaway scarf collar and belted waistline, indicated the more formalized type of suit that will be worn for afternoon.

As to colors—what an array! Vivid tangerine orange, navy, fondant beige, schooner blue, marianne, cocktail red, colony gold, wine red,
spring grey, Jose blue, ashes of roses, ombre maise. Red and white, black and white, navy and white are to be much used in combination. And materials—again an array! Silk brocade, Mandalay seersucker, cotton lace, Tewaunee fabric, silk linen, Hollywood fast color pique, Hollywood Bengal pique, Shan-sai, sheer seersucker, peasant crash, acetate crimps, soiree muslin, Ever-fast padock checks, regency crepe, Gramercy gingham, powder puff muslin, scatterspot Peter Pan, Sa-ron plaid, crepe trottier, corsair block, Swiss gingham, washable crepe, printed taffeta ("Taffetaglow"), vita chrome chiffon, sheer crepe, ripple crepe, matelesse crepe ("Crepe Marinate"), chiffon seer-sucker ("Aura Crinkle"), eyelet batiste, and so on.

Every idea that clothes made at home are "just a little dull" was displayed under Miss Hanley's clever presentation. The smart styling and exquisitely correct tailoring of every costume in the show proved that correct home sewing is the shortest route to Paris style at prices that are far from painful. The printed features in the McCall patterns offer encouragement to the brand new seamstress.

Camden Made It Two In A Row—Baseball At Lin- colnville Beach

Camden 5, Vinalhaven 3
The Camden Shells handed the Vinalhaven Chiefs their first setback of the season at Vinalhaven Sunday, the game being played in a steady rainstorm. The Chiefs were guilty of four costly errors and a passed ball which aided the Shells in getting all their runs. The Shells made three errors, two of them leading to runs for the Chiefs. The only earned run of the game came in the ninth on Anderson's walk, an infield out and Peterson's double over the left field barrier.

The hitting of Lord and fielding of Guilford featured. Brown and Baum made spectacular one-handed catches in right field.

The attendance was small, most of the fans being content to watch the game from the shelter of their cars.

Baseball at Lincolnville

The Lincolnville Beach Athletic Club was defeated 7-4 by Camden High School "All-Stars" in their second game of the season Friday evening. After the first inning Brown pitched a swell game for the Beach but received terrible infield support.
The Beach contributed 11 misplays to the "Comedy of Errors" and the Camden team 10. Considering the fact that most of their opponents were Camden H. S. regulars the inexperienced Beach team did well to outlast their opponents 10-8. Payson and Masalin led at bat.

STATISTICAL STORY

Of Rockport's Accomplish- ments In the Tri-County League—Landed Second

Annis who played centerfield, and third base when Woodward was pitching, proved to be the most valuable man to the Rockport High School team this season in one respect. Although his batting average was not too impressive he gave his few hits when they were most needed, and batted in 13 men to take the lead in this division. His nearest rival was Turner with 8 runs batted in.
Snow was credited with 7 and Daucett with 6.

Woodward showed his strength and aggressiveness in many respects. He not only scored the most runs but made the most hits and had the highest total base average. Among his hits was a threebase wallop and four of the two base variety. It seems strange but he didn't get a hit until his fourth game when he made one single. From that game on he was a menace to all pitchers. Once on the bases he became a Bill Werber the second. He committed 16 thefts for the highest in the league. Collins was second in base stealing with 6; Moon had 5.

Snow put down four sacrifice bunts to lead in this field, and Daucett was credited with three. Daucett also drew the most bases on balls. He was given eight free passes. Collins followed him with six and Moon had five. Collins fanned the breezes the most times having struck out no less than 17 visits to the plate. Daucett whiffed the cool spring air 14 times, and Wentworth went back to the bench 10 times because of his failure to see the ball for his third strike.

Woodward and Wentworth took care of the pitching department very effectively. Had it not been for so many errors their records might even be more impressive. Woodward proved to be the most effective pitcher allowing but five earned runs and 13 hits. Wentworth only allowed 11 earned runs but he gave up 33 hits.
As this was Wentworth's first year out for baseball his work is all the more creditable. Woodward had 54 strike-outs as against Wentworth's 35. Woodward's control was still the superior. Other points to confirm this were his 8 base-on-balls given out while Wentworth watched 19 men walk to first base with a free ticket.
Woodward hit 4 men and Wentworth's fast ball found 5 in the wad.
Woodward committed one wild pitch.
Here are the "figgers":
Runs batted in—Annis 13, Turner 8, Snow 7, Daucett 6, Moon 5, Dow 4, Woodward 2, Grant 2, Collins 2, and Lowell 1.

Stolen bases—Woodward 16 Collins 6, Moon 5, Snow 3, Annis 3, Turner 2, Wentworth 2, Grant 1.

Sacrifice bunts—Snow 4, Daucett 3, Dow 1, Grant 1.

Three-base hits—Woodward and Moon.

Two-base hits—Woodward 4, Snow 2, Turner 2, Annis 2, Moon 1, and Daucett 1.

Bases on balls—Daucett 8, Collins 6, Moon 5, Woodward 4, Wentworth 3, Annis 3, Snow 2, Dow 2, Turner 1, and Merrill 1.

Struck out—Collins 17 Daucett 14, Wentworth 10, Moon 9, Dow 9, Annis 8, Grant 5, Woodward 4, Merrill 3, Snow 2, Turner 2, Lowell 1, and Mo-ong 1.

The batting and fielding averages will appear next issue.
[The Sports Editor wishes to thank the writer of the above statistics. It would increase interest in the national game if similar efforts could be exerted for the other teams.]

STRAND THEATRE

Gene Stratton-Porter's world famous story "Laddie" comes to the screen Friday and Saturday as a motion picture production into the making of which has gone all the lavish and elaborate care and effort and expenditure that characterized "Little Women."

Entrancing entertainment is offered in what has been described as the best picture of American life since the Louisa May Alcott story set world afire with enthusiastic praise.

"Laddie" is predicted, will repeat that triumphant acclaim that in time became worldwide. For the same attention to casting, to direction, to every production value, was strictly ordered and given by the makers of the new film.

One of the most famous of American novelists, Mrs. Stratton-Porter's stories of life and love are still among the best sellers. Of her entire list of novels, four are ranked among the ten best-sellers of the past 40 years, it is announced; and one of these four is "Laddie" for which book it is said has 40,000,000 readers throughout the world—adv.

Clarence F. Gould

The remains of Clarence F. Gould, 51, who died May 31 after a brief illness of pneumonia, were brought here for burial and placed in the family lot. Mr. Gould was formerly of this place, son of the late Freeman S. and Martha (Paul) Gould, but went to Portland several years ago where he had since resided.

Besides an only brother, Roy H. Gould of this town, he is survived by five children and one grandchild who live in Rosindale, Mass., John, Carl, Freeman, Roger, and Florence, all of whom were present at the funeral services. C. M. Payson, W. George Payson, George Davis and C. E. Wellman were bearers. There were many beautiful flowers. Much sympathy is expressed for the surviving relatives by friends here, where Mr. Gould passed his boyhood days.

HIS LIBERTY BRIEF

A MAINE PROGRAM

Warren High School Had Brilliant Commencement Exercises

Glover Hall, at 8.30 Friday evening was the scene of a colorful graduation when the eight members of this year's senior class received their diplomas from the hands of Frank D. Rowe, superintendent of the Warren, Union, Matinicus school union, following the graduation exercises. A typical State of Maine program, with the exception of a few of the class parts, dealing with the current topics of the day, it was interesting throughout. Each of the eight students had a part.

The program: Processional, orchestra, with Harold Overlock, a junior, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Overlock at East Warren, as marshal, his baton in the 1935 class colors; invocation, Rev. Howard A. Welch, who took the place of Rev. H. T. Holt who was unable to attend; salutatory, "Maine's Largest Industry," Douglas E. Gray, history, by Forrest C. Adams; music, orchestra; Acadia National Park, Dana Smith Jr.; prophecy, by Ella M. Simmons; "The Quoddy Project," Arnold B. Robinson; gifts, Olive J. Teague; music; class will, Howard A. Welch Jr.; valedictory, "Maine as a Recreational Center," by Lila B. Stimpson; presentation of diplomas, by Supt. Rowe; reception for graduates: graduation ball.

Douglas Gray, the salutatorian, is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gray, and had chosen "Maine's Largest Industry" for his subject. He said in part: "The manufacture of paper and pulp stands at the head of all industries in Maine, according to the amount of capital invested and the value of the products. If one should look back through the pages of Maine's industrial history, it will be found that the making of paper and pulp stood only in the seventh place in 1900. But now it has risen to first place with no indications of its being displaced for many years to come."

"The foundation of this industry was laid in the early part of the 19th century when a Frenchman by the name of Robert invented a mechanical method of making paper in a continuous web. At this time paper was made entirely from rags but immediately following Robert's invention other inventors began searching for substitutes. In 1867, a machine was found for grinding wood into pulp and Maine came into the pulp and paper picture almost immediately, with the establishment of a grinding plant at Topsham."

Forrest C. Adams, second son of Frank B. Adams of South Warren, in a humorous way, told of the class's chronicles from the time it entered high school until the present date. It was rather with pride the audience heard again that the W. H. S. baseball team, of which three of the seniors were members, won the championship in the Tri-county School League, thanks to their excellent playing and the coaching by their Principal Maxey.

We are always interested in scenic places of our State and Dana Smith Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Smith Sr. gave a splendid essay on "Acadia National Park," on the history and scenic value. He said in part, "Many years ago a small group of far seeing men led by George B. Dorr, now the superintendent of the park, organized the corporation known as the Hancock County Trustees of Public Reservations with the one purpose of preserving lands in their primeval state for the enjoyment of mankind for all time. By gift and by purchase they acquired the 5000 acres which they presented to the U.S.A. as the centre of Acadia National Park."

"This park is the only national park in the United States which borders the sea. It is made up of 21,000 acres, 19,000 of which are on the island of Mt. Desert and the remaining 2000 on the main land at Schoodic Point, Gouldsboro, Maine. Within the park limits are to be found 17 hills and mountains, ranging in altitude from 280 to 1532 feet."

"From the summit of Cadillac Mountain, one may see nearly a third of Maine's 2500 mile coast line, forty-five miles out to sea, and one hundred miles inland, beautiful Mt. Katahdin, and to the westward the

DOES YOUR HUSBAND CALL YOU GROUCHY?

He's truthful if not tactful. Man-like, he is bewildered by your irritability. He can't understand what you have to be blue about. He wishes that you'd snap out of it. He'd do anything he could to help you. If he knew how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was, he'd go straight to the nearest drug store and buy you a bottle.

"My husband says I am my old self again," says Mrs. Barbara Spear, 799 Elm Street, Akron, Ohio. "I was tired and all in with appetite. Had no pep and was in poor spirits. Your Vegetable Compound eliminated that awful tired feeling."

Don't try your husband's patience too far. Get a bottle from your druggist now. It probably will help you, because nearly a million American women know from personal experience that it helps them.

AT THE PARK FRIDAY-SATURDAY

Scene from "When a Man Sees Red," with Buck Jones

"When a Man Sees Red," comes Friday and Saturday with Buck Jones in the starring role, supported by Peggy Campbell, LeRoy Mason and Dorothy Reiver.

The story deals with the stubborn niece of an old rancher who thinks she is destined to become a great artist. She has her studio in New York and refuses to return to her uncle. However, she comes back when her uncle dies and she inherits the property. A gang of cattle thieves are preying on the ranch and she

White Mountains if the day be clear."

Ella Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Simmons of South Warren, did justice to the part of prophecy assigned to her, and from all appearances many of the things she prophesied may come true.

Everyone is thinking, talking and writing "Quoddy Project" now so what could be more timely than an essay upon the project? Arnold Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson gave a very enlightening essay of the history and proposed plans of the project.

For many years men had tried to harness these tides but failed until Dexter P. Cooper who had spent many seasons at Campobello Island conceived a plan by which it is possible to harness the tides. He had spent more than ten years conceiving this idea overcoming each and every obstacle as it presented itself. The gates which will be constructed at the dams will be of steel in concrete frames similar to those now in use at the Panama Canal. Not only will crews be busy during the construction but after since it is bound to attract electro-chemical industries in search of cheap power.

Olive J. Teague, daughter of Mrs. Isa Teague, in her usual calm, and rather witty way dispensed the gifts to her classmates, the gifts having been placed upon the stage on a small wheelbarrow decorated in the class colors.

Howard A. Welch Jr., only son of Rev. and Mrs. Howard A. Welch, presented the legal looking document which was the class will and brought many a laugh, as he read the different bequests.

Lila B. Stimpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stimpson of Warren, depicted excellently the valedictory, which was also well suited to the season being "Maine as a Recreational Center."

She spoke of the fishing recreation, which brings tourists into Maine early in the season. She told of the beautiful resorts, Kennebunkport, Old Orchard, Bethel, Poland Springs, Moosehead Lake, Lucerne in Maine especially. The fact that winter sports are bringing so many into Maine was a most interesting point, and the winter carnival at Rumford is gaining so much in popularity is waking up the people to the fact that Maine is to be thought of in winter quite as much as in summer.

Glover Hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion, the class colors of pink and blue lending themselves well to the decorative scheme. Lights were hooded in blue, streamers crossed along the walls, the windows curtained with pink streamers caught back with blue crepe paper. The stage represented a garden scene, with a rock wall, a picket fence, over which there were climbing roses, and which there were climbing roses, and which there was a gate. In the background was a rose trellis and overhead still repeated in the class colors, "Be on the Square."

WARREN

The sprightly comedy, "Presenting Polly," to be given Friday evening at Town hall is something different in the way of plays being based on a political theme. It has the requisites of a fine production and holds suspense throughout. Marguerite Haskell plays the lead, "Polly Rogers," with Roger Kellogg opposite her—a mild looking professor who is unwilling candidate in the political race. Miss Beulah Starrett plays the part of a young matron; Miss Christine Starrett is the mischievous girl of 17; Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, who "raised" the young professor are roles taken by S. F. Haskell and Miss Ida Stevens, the latter with a mind of her own, the former supposed to be that stronger will; Miss Katherine Starrett assumed the "vamp" part; and Marshall White is the villain. Not being complete without a reporter, Richard Bucklin will give a good interpretation of that assignment, while to Miss Beulah Haskell falls the part of cute maid, with Alfred Oxtun playing opposite her as butler. Miss Marguerite Haskell is directing the production as well as playing the lead. An addition to the presentation Friday evening will be the new velvet curtain recently bought by the Women's Club.

The annual meeting of the River-view Cemetery Association will be June 15, at 2 standard, at the Montgomery rooms.

From Washington, D. C., comes the news that Dr. T. Burch will receive the honor degree of Doctor of Laws at the commencement of the National University of the School of Law, the exercises to be held in Continental Hall. Friends are sending Mr. Burch congratulations.

Joyce Halligan is guest of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Michael Halligan, Sr., at Rockland this week.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard A. Welch attended the Baptist Convention at Waterville Tuesday and Wednesday this week.

Because of the absence of Rev. H. A. Welch the mid-week service at the Baptist Church is put over until Thursday evening.

The regular meeting of the Baptist Women's Mission Society will be held at 8 o'clock, Thursday.

All children of the Baptist Church school who are to have part in the Children's Day concert are requested to attend rehearsal Sunday at the church school hour. The children's day concert will be given the following Sunday, June 23.

A dance will be given at Glover hall Friday evening following the play "Presenting Polly."

The Star Circle of Ivy Chapter, O.E.S., will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Grace Wylie. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Marilla Copeland is house guest of Mr. and Mrs. David Hemenway at South Hope.

Mrs. Florence Oxtun attended commencement exercises at the University of Maine, Monday. Accompanying her were her sister Mrs. Norma Simmons of Rockland; Mrs. Vesper Packard, Rockland; Rev. Sidney Packard, Boothbay Harbor; Almon Packard, Friendship. Others from this section who attended were Mrs. and Mr. Robert Nutt of West Rockport, Vernon Packard, brother of Mrs. Oxtun and Mrs. Simmons, was a member of this year's graduating class.

Vernon Packard is home from the University of Maine for this week. Pupils of the grammar grades were surprised on Friday of a peck of corn, the donor, George Teague, janitor at the school building. The wind-up for the last day of school was a ride on Harold Pease's truck to Union where a girls' baseball game was played between Warren and Union grammar schools, the former being defeated 21 to 20.

Grammar school pupils neither absent nor tardy on Friday of a peck of corn, the donor, George Teague, janitor at the school building. The wind-up for the last day of school was a ride on Harold Pease's truck to Union where a girls' baseball game was played between Warren and Union grammar schools, the former being defeated 21 to 20.

Henrietta French and Mrs. Helen Allen, first president of the Mrs. Allen, now a resident of Sanford, and Mrs. Ella C. Allen of Thomaston, honorary member. It was also voted to hold the July meeting July 5, with the short business session at 3.30. Preliminary plans were made for a "Rose Tea" to be given that day at 4 o'clock at the Town hall.

The new curtain for the stage has been hung and much satisfaction felt in the committee's selection. Of dark green velvet, it drapes gracefully at sides when open and has a valance between the side panels.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Mary Moore.

SOME FINE SOCCER

Rockland Makes a Game Showing But Is Outclassed By Rumford

Rumford and Rockland soccer clubs played at Community Park Saturday. Rockland losing 3-0. The lineup:

Rumford: Rumford, g. S. Benson, lb. H. Mellquist, rb. Falk Campbell, lb. lb. G. Mellquist, A. Don, rfb. rfb. Carlson Hutcheons (Capt.) chb. chb. Underwood Masulky, lbh. H. Mellquist Dawson, or. Berglund McAffery, ir. McFall A. Dawson, cf. cf. Thompson, Whytock, il. il. Holmberg Pratt, ol. ol. Larson J. Patterson, reserve.

Linemen, W. Whytock and Bergeron. Referee James Cant. Rumford kicked off and took the ball to the Rockland goal. Rumford pressing hard, but the Rockland defense was in form, and cleared their lines in grand style. Benson in goal was playing his best game of the season. Falk, the old reliable, was playing his usual steady game, while Guss Mellquist made a good showing at left back, and Underwood at center was an improvement. The forward line, however, lost many good chances. Thorpe worked hard at center but his passes to the wings were wasted.

Rumford showed good judgment in passing and its defense was sound. Hutcheon at center half proved a regular stonewall to the Rockland forwards, and the smart young forward line, which had plenty of play, kept Benson, the Rockland goalie, busy. Abe saved many good shots. Whytock, Rumford's inside left, kept the Rockland defense busy.

Rockland took the ball to the Rumford goal. A good try by Thorpe was saved. A forced corner was well placed by Berglund, but Rumford cleared it. Play again went to the Rockland goal, but thanks to Benson there was no scoring. Rockland again took the ball to Rumford territory. Larson crossed nicely to Thorpe whose shot was blocked. Rumford again took up the running and some nice play on the right wing and Whytock scored the first goal of the game.

Half time score, Rumford 1, Rockland 0.

In the second half Rockland kicked off, taking the ball to Rumford's goal, but Thorpe's shot proved wide. Rumford took up the play and showed some nice touches, forcing a corner which was cleared by Rockland.

Larson's nice shot was saved by the Rumford goalie. Another forced corner, which was again cleared by Rumford.

The ball was carried from goal to goal showing a lot of quick play. Rumford scored the second goal of the game. Dawson, the center field, being the marksman. Rumford kept up the pressure and Whytock, il scored the third goal. Rockland had a burst of speed and rushed the Rumford goal. Thorpe missed the goal by a few inches. Final score: Rumford 3, Rockland 0.

Rumford has been working in a lot of young players, some of whom are high school boys who are greatly enthusiastic over soccer and who are showing promise of becoming fine players.

The newly elected officers of the club were in their chairs for the first time. Each member was privileged to invite one guest.

The president, Miss Edna F. Boggs, appointed the program committee, which included Mrs. Alena Starrett, Mrs. Gertrude Rowe, Mrs. Anna Starrett, Mrs. Mabel Peabody and Mrs. Mary Moore. A membership committee was also appointed, on which are, Mrs. Ella Cunningham, Mrs. Flora Peabody and Mrs. Edith Spear.

Two members were admitted, Mrs. Henrietta French and Mrs. Helen Allen. A letter from Mrs. Marjorie Allen, first president of the Mrs. Allen, now a resident of Sanford, and Mrs. Ella C. Allen of Thomaston, honorary member. It was also voted to hold the July meeting July 5, with the short business session at 3.30. Preliminary plans were made for a "Rose Tea" to be given that day at 4 o'clock at the Town hall.

The new curtain for the stage has been hung and much satisfaction felt in the committee's selection. Of dark green velvet, it drapes gracefully at sides when open and has a valance between the side panels.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Mary Moore.

WITH EXTENSION AGENTS AND THE KNOX-LINCOLN
FARM BUREAU

Agriculture
J. F. Chapman, Damariscotta, has obtained good results by fertilizing his fields with a nitrogen fertilizer. On one plot he fertilized the two sides and left a strip through the middle unfertilized. There is a striking difference between the plots.

Mr. Chapman has two fine pure bred guernsey heifers from which he is planning to start a pure bred herd.

Frank Calderwood, Union, has had good results fertilizing his fields. The fertilized plots should be the first to be cut. This will give a good second crop.

There are two new bulletins available at the Extension office, Rockland. One on "Poultry House Insulation and Ventilation" and the other on "Ice Cream Making."

Donald Corbett of the Extension Service, Orono, was with County Agent Wentworth this past week, holding two dairy meetings. He discussed the outlook for dairy cattle and explained the Boston market situation. Meetings were held in Grange Hall, Union, and at Union Hall, Whitefield.

Mrs. Charles Hendrickson and Otto Miete of West Alna have followed the suggestions of A. D. Nutting and have planted many shrubs about their homes. L. E. Carney of Sheepscot has also followed Mr. Nutting's suggestions.

These persons are planning some Better Home Grounds work this coming year. Alna, Frank Harding, Sheepscot, Harold Averill and Mr. Flye; Orr's Corner, C. N. Light, Nobleboro, Harold Chapman; Boothbay, A. B. Reed; North Edgcomb, W. W. Cochran; and Wiscasset, Congregational Church.

County Agent Wentworth's schedule for the coming week: Thursday,

June 13, West Rockport; Friday, Washington; Monday, Warren; Tuesday, Bunker Hill; Wednesday, Damariscotta; Thursday, Dresden; and Friday, Whitefield. Meetings of the local committees will be held and calls made on demonstrators and co-operators.

With the Homes
Miss Lawrence, home demonstration agent, has two meetings next week on "Making the Living Room Comfortable and Homelike," Wednesday, Edgcomb at Mrs. William Brown's; Mrs. Esther Dodge and Mrs. Brown are on the dinner committee. Thursday at Whitefield; Mrs. Florence Haggood and Mrs. Clara Law on the dinner committee.

"Keeping the House Clean" is the subject of four leaders' meetings next week. Tuesday, Friendship at Mrs. Subject's; Wednesday, Mrs. Bertha Jameson as leader. A bread making demonstration will be given to the Jolly Toppers 4-H Club of George's River Road by Miss Theresa Wood of the University of Maine, Extension Service. Miss

PLANS TO EXPLORE
SPACE BY ROCKETS

Professor to Use Projectiles to Go 150 Miles.

Roswell, N. M.—Rockets equipped with automatic recording devices will be shot into the stratosphere to a distance of from 40 to 150 miles from the earth's surface from an especially constructed 60-foot tower near here this spring in science's latest attempt to penetrate the secrets behind cosmic rays, light rays and radio waves.

The experiments will be the culmination of months of work on the part of Dr. R. H. Goddard, head of the department of physics at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., who expects they will yield data of great value to science. One immediate beneficiary would be radio broadcasting.

The tower is rising in a shallow valley 25 miles from Roswell. In the meantime Doctor Goddard is carrying out preliminary experiments on a farm four miles from here, aided by a staff of assistants. The Guggenheim foundation is financing the unique tests. Roswell was selected for the site of the experiments because of unique atmospheric and climatic conditions.

The type of rocket to be used is 12 feet long and approximately 2 feet in diameter at its widest point. It is equipped with a parachute designed to be released at the highest point of its flight.

There is no danger of the rocket causing injury, Doctor Goddard believes, as he calculated it will return to the earth almost vertically, and its flight will be under control from the tower at all times. The tower site is 15 miles from the nearest settlement.

Advantages of the rocket ascensions over stratosphere balloon flights lie in the fact that balloons, to rise beyond 14 miles, must be of such great size and at the same time such light weight that construction dangerous to passengers results, according to Doctor Goddard. He pointed to the fatal outcome of the 72,000 foot stratosphere ascension of three Soviet Russians.

The date of the projected tests will depend on the results of ground experiments now being conducted here.

"There is a long period of testing before any practical results are certain," Doctor Goddard explained. "We will probably spend several months in the laboratory before any test will be made."

IM DANCING FOR JOY—WASHDAY'S SO EASY NOW!

It's a real joy to know that never again I'll have to break my back over a washboard. For Rinso alone—without the aid of washboard or boiler—takes clothes 4 or 5 shades whiter. It gets colors fresh and bright. And it saves the clothes—makes them last 2 or 3 times longer, because they're not scrubbed threadbare. A little Rinso gives quick, lasting suds—even in hardest water. Recommended by the makers of 34 famous washers. Grand for dishes and all cleaning. Easy on hands.

775 U. S. Planes Are Now Equipped With Radios

Washington.—A recent survey by the bureau of air commerce shows that there are 775 radio-equipped airplanes in commercial and private operation throughout the United States, whereas 845 are owned by the scheduled air lines, 248 installed in private planes, 135 in ships used by individual firms for business purposes and 49 in craft employed for air taxi and charter flights. Government-owned aircraft, such as that operated by the army, navy and bureau of air commerce itself, many of which carry radio equipment, was not included in the survey.

A considerable increase in the employment of airplane radio among private owners during the coming year is anticipated as a result of developments that have been under way for some time with the "homing" radio compass. This device enables an airplane pilot to tune in either on Department of Commerce airways radio stations and course beacons or on regular radio broadcasting stations and fly directly toward them from any point of the compass.

Chicago Art Institute
Buys "Lost" Rembrandt

Chicago.—The Chicago Art Institute has purchased a Rembrandt painting, "Christ Warning the Disciples," lost for three centuries. Institute authorities said the work was purchased from an Austrian nobleman, but refused to reveal his identity or the price. Other Rembrandts have sold as high as $200,000.

Can't Kick About Cows

London, Ohio.—Londoners are sleeping undisturbed by nightly bovine noises now. A city council ordinance has been amended to forbid the keeping of bawling cows and calves under three months old in sales barns overnight.

Potatoes Replace
Torpedoes on Sub

Amsterdam.—Potatoes and onions—not torpedoes—are stored in the tubes of Dutch submarine K-18, now on a 23,000-mile trip from Holland to Surabaya, Java.

The trip will be the longest ever made by a submarine, and will take eight months.

When provisions were stored aboard the 707-ton craft at Neuwedep, Holland, it was found that there wasn't much room. The commander decided it was better to leave two torpedoes at home rather than bales of potatoes and onions.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rivers of Windsor, and Miss Emma Wellington of Rockland among others were in town to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Hathorn.

Warren Clark, son of Mrs. Belle Clark, passed Friday and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. George Rivers of Windsor.

Mrs. Lydia Hathorn
Funeral services for Mrs. Lydia Hathorn, widow of Capt. Orris Hathorn, were held last Thursday at the residence, Rev. Sidney Packard of Boothbay, former Martinsville pastor, officiated, and burial was in the family lot in Sesside cemetery. The bearers were Joseph Simmons, Allen Conary, Ormand Hopkins and Charles Taylor. An abundance of flowers were in evidence, among which was a beautiful basket from the neighbors on Winthrop, Mass., neighbors of Mrs. Roy Barter, daughter of the deceased.

Mrs. Hathorn's sudden death occurred June 3, previous to which day she had been in her usual health. She was 80 and had lived since the marriage of her children several years ago. The past two winters she had spent with her son Levi of this place, having returned to her home about two months ago. She was the last of a family of eight, daughter of the late Jesse and Eunice Hart.

Mrs. Hathorn was native of this place and had spent her life here. Capt. Hathorn built a new home in 1903 which was the pride of Mrs. Hathorn's life, and which she kept in immaculate condition. The premises also made an attractive appearance. She preferred to live the quiet life, yet always extended a hearty welcome to friends who called.

Members of the immediate family who survive are two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Roy Clark of Waltham, Mass., Mrs. Roy Barter of Winthrop, Mass., Levi of this place and Charles of Waltham, Mass., to whom this community extends sympathy. A daughter Julia and a son Lewis died several years ago. Other surviving relatives are 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild, the daughter of Berkeley Lewis Hathorn; also several nieces and nephews.

Victor Moore Says: "It's the Top in Motor Cars"

Victor Moore, now starring in Broadway's biggest musical hit, "Anything Goes", says: "I bought my new Dodge because of its striking looks... and was delighted to find that it gave me amazing gas and oil economy."

And Mrs. Gertrude Regal, 2953 Decatur Ave., Bedford Parkway, N. Y., N. Y., says: "I've got plenty of friends who own small cars, but none of them save money the way my new Dodge does. I get from 3 to 5 more miles per gallon of gas than they do, and my oil costs are as much as 20% less."

Wherever you go, the story is the same. Owners are simply amazed at Dodge economy. And yet that's only one of its advantages. You, too, can enjoy the extra roominess, comfort and luxury of this big, sturdy Dodge—for a trifling few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars. List price now only $645 and up at factory, Detroit.

Next Sunday is Christmas day for Dad without the New Year's bills rendered.

It's the one day in the year when Dad doesn't take it on the chin ... one inning in the whole year when sons and daughters go to bat for the head of the table.

What are you going to give your Dad ... a tie ... a shirt ... a straw hat ... or maybe a suit?

No matter what it is ... your Father's Day money will go farther at Gregory's ... even though it will never go as far as Father went for you.

A NOTABLE RECITAL Many Novelties Seen, and All Participants Win New Laurels

Miss Edna Gregory presented her piano pupils in a novel and entertaining program at the Universalist vestry. It was entitled "Playing at the Playground." The assembled guests gazed upon a colorful playground—a huge orange and black sun umbrella under which were chairs and a table in the same gay hues. There were settees, a child's glider, lawn chairs, bird houses, all within a picturesque white picket fence and arbor. And, too, there were balloons, rockinghorses, bicycles, doll carriages and a doll's tea table. Here the boys and girls, garbed in play suits, slacks and halters, sport clothes, capered over the playground—playing hop scotch, tag, riding bicycles, and so on. Carleton Gregory was playground director and when the referee's whistle was sounded, the players were turned over to Miss Gregory for the program:

Prizes were awarded to Dorothy Kennedy and Barbara Lamb in the Big Bad Wolf contest; to Margaret Havener in the Diller and Quaille Book; to Edith Clark, Dorothy Smith and Raymond Kennedy in attendance; to Mary Ludwig for attitude toward music. Each pupil was given a book.

While it is impossible to give each number individual attention, it is not amiss to speak of little Evelyn Clark, aged six, who appeared both in transposition work and in the playlet, after taking only six lessons. The playlet was charmingly carried out—the little folks wearing sun-bonnets and crisp aprons. Miss Gregory gave an interesting explanation of George Pratt Maxim, with whom she studied at the Faellen School. Mr. Maxim, an honor graduate from New England Conservatory of Music, studied later with I. Philippe in Paris, also with Charles Widor, organist, in the same city. He was conductor for several music festivals and for three years was under-conductor at the Maine Music Festivals. He is known as a composer and arranger of music as well as pianist and organist.

Miss Gregory also expressed appreciation to the Stonington Furniture Co. for loan of playground features, to E. H. Crie for bird houses and to the high school for the fence and arbor. Also to Miss Grant for aiding with her lovely contralto voice and to little Margaret for her sweet singing.

ROCKLAND LIONS Have Rev. C. H. Olds As Guest Speaker—Tells Of Hudson's Bay Country

Rev. C. H. Olds' popularity as a lecturer was given another demonstration at yesterday's luncheon of the Lions Club at The Thorndike. The pastor spent a portion of his life in the Canadian Northwest and found there an abundance of material which he has woven into lectures of absorbing interest.

Yesterday the story concerned that huge area controlled by the Hudson's Bay Co., which was originally devoted to the fur trade, but which, with accessibility by airplane is found to be a vast storehouse of mineral wealth. Today we have fur farms in our own back yard, and skins which formerly sold for $2000 now bring about $200.

The speaker gave some of the characteristics of the Northern Indians—and their dogs; and described the proper sort of clothing to wear in a country where the temperature descends to 65 below zero. Not more than two pairs of stockings should be worn, and cotton duffel should be next to the skin to prevent sweating and chafing. Bannock is the chief pastry food, and in place of maple sugar they have a birch sugar which is sweet, but black and coarse.

The introduced guests were Young Ludwick, Young McRae, and Rev. William E. Berger of the Camden-Rockport Lions Club.

No meeting next Wednesday.

THERE'S a lot of easy money coming to some smart people for a few minutes' work. Read details given below for the Fro-joy Recipe Contest, and see how to earn yourself the price of a grand summer vacation! It all boils down to this: FRO-JOY ICE CREAM is offering $1900 in 205 CASH PRIZES for new ways to serve ice cream.

HERE'S HOW

Write or print full directions for preparing the ice cream dish or drink you wish to enter. Pin it to a Fro-joy Recipe Contest Official Entry Blank which you can get FREE at any Fro-joy dealer's. Enclose it in an envelope along with a trade-mark cut from a Fro-joy Ice Cream pint or quart package, and mail to the address printed on the entry blank.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Here's a sample recipe to give you an idea of what contest entries should be like:

PINEAPPLE DELIGHT à la FRO-JOY

Cut triangles of sliced pineapple and arrange around a mound of Fro-joy Vanilla Ice Cream on a dessert plate. Decorate its top with a star made of three pineapple triangles, and crown with a cherry.

Prizes will be awarded for the best, most original, and most practical recipes. Study this sample. Think of a delicious combination that will be new to us. Try it out. Or take some dish that has been a specialty in your household—it may be new to us. Enter your favorite—or as many as you like. The more you send, the better your chances.

IN 205 CASH PRIZES

First Prize will be $500; the next four prizes $100 each; and 200 additional prizes of $5 each, making a total of $1900. The contest closes at Midnight on July 12, 1935, but don't wait till the last minute to enter. Start working up entries today. You can get free Official Entry Blanks at your neighborhood Fro-joy dealer's. Don't miss this chance to win a handsome CASH prize!

This is the red-and-white "Sealtight" symbol that distinguishes Fro-joy Ice Cream—now produced under the Sealtight System of Laboratory Protection.

BOARD OF JUDGES

Three nationally prominent food authorities will judge the Fro-joy Recipe Contest. They are:
DOROTHY E. MARSH
Food Editor, "Good Housekeeping" PRUDENCE PENNY
Newspaper Domestic Science Expert
KATHARINE CLAYBERGER
Associate Editor, "Woman's Home Companion"
Contest winners will be announced as soon as possible after the conclusion of the contest.

REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONERS OF KNOX COUNTY, MAINE

By Edward Kallach Gould, State Historian of Maine

Author of "Major-General Hiram G. Berry," "British and Tory Marauders on the Penobscot," "Storming the Heights, Maine's Embattled Farmers at Castine in the Revolution," "Revolutionary Soldiers and Sailors of Knox County, Maine, and Their Descendants" (Ms.), "Colonel Mason Wheaton, Revolutionary Officer and Captain of Industry."

FOREWORD

These papers contain a rich store not only of personal, but of war history; detached statements and broken fragments, to be sure, but none the less interesting and real. They tell us in the very words of the actors in that war of Concord, Lexington, and Bunker Hill; of the siege of Boston, of Ticonderoga and Crown Point, of Monmouth, White Plains, of Trenton and Valley Forge; of the battles of Saratoga and Yorktown and the surrenders of Burgoyne and Cornwallis; of the gallant, but ill-starred attacks on Quebec, and the sufferings of the retreat from the frozen north. In justice to my associates in the Sons of the American Revolution, I feel that they should get the benefit of their generous financial outlay by having at least the sketches of the Revolutionary Pensioners published, and they are offered herewith.

(Eighth Installment)

Corporal Samuel Boggs, 3d

Corporal Samuel Boggs, 3d, of Warren, was the second child of Samuel Boggs, 2d, and was born in 1759 in the fort at Pemaquid, Mass., now Maine. He lived in the home-stand in Warren; married Susannah Annis, Col. Mason Wheaton, justice of the peace, officiating, and died Oct. 1, 1834. He was a Revolutionary pensioner.

He entered the service for three years as a private in Capt. Samuel King's Company, Colonel Thomas Marshall's Regiment, Massachusetts Line, in January, 1777, and was honorably discharged at West Point, by Marshall in January, 1780. So he states in his declaration for pension in 1818.

He was in skirmishes at Ticonderoga and Bemis Heights, but in no general engagement. He was promoted to Corporal Nov. 1, 1778, and served in this capacity during the winter of suffering at Valley Forge. He was also a private in Lieut. Jeremiah Colburn's Detachment of Massachusetts Militia, stationed at Camden, and serving from Feb. 15 to 22, 1781. This detachment tamely submitted to an invasion of a British attachment from Castine, that made prisoner of Lieut. Colburn and destroyed and carried off much plunder. His widow, Susanna Boggs, received a pension after his decease.

Michael Bowen

Michael Bowen of North Haven, according to his own statement in his declaration for pension, served as a fifer in Capt. Woodbridge's Company, Col. Smith's Regiment, Massachusetts line, from Feb. 8, 1777, to Dec. 31, 1779, and in Capt. Fowle's Company of the same regiment, from Jan. 1 to Dec. 1780. Michael died Feb. 14, 1844. His widow, Sarah Bowen, whose maiden name was Sarah Carr, applied for a pension May 8, 1839, giving her age as 75 years and residence Vinalhaven, North Haven where she resided being a part of that town at that time. She claims in her declaration that Michael was at the Battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill. She was married to Michael April 11, 1790, and they had one son, John G. Bowen.

The Massachusetts records give Michael Bowen's military service more in detail than does he in his declaration for pension.

When he first enlisted his residence was Marblehead, and later in succession, Manchester, Rutland and Beverly, all in Massachusetts. His name first appears in the return of men in Col. Gerrish's Massachusetts regiment stationed at Chelsea and Brookline, Mass., dated Aug. 3, 1775; he was then reported ill of dysentery at Chelsea. Later he appears as a fifer in Capt. Richard Dodge's (3d) Company, Col. Loammi Baldwin's (late Gerrish's) 38th regiment, Massachusetts line, in return dated Chelsea Sept. 1, 1775.

A company return dated Chelsea Oct. 2, 1775, states he enlisted May 1, 1775. A return of men enlisted into the Continental Army from the 1st Beverly Company, Essex County regiment, dated Feb. 13, 1778, gives his name, and his residence as Beverly, and states he enlisted for that town and joined Capt. Fairfax Company, Col. Wigglesworth's regiment, enlisting for three years and reported mustered by Esquire Cushing. His name also appears as a fifer in Capt. Powle's Company, Col. Calvin Smith's 13th regiment in the continental pay accounts for service from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1780. His name also appears in the descriptive list of enlisted men dated West Point, Jan. 29, 1781, in Capt. Daniel's Company, Lieut. Col. Smith's regiment, his age being given as 22; stature 5 feet, 8 inches; complexion, light; hair, dark; eyes, light; residence, Rutland; enlisted Nov. 1779, by Lieut. Levi Holden; rank, Fife Major; enlistment during the war. In the return for wages, etc., for Jan., 1781 to Dec., 1782, he appears as Fife Major in Capt. Jephth Daniel's Company, Lieut. Col. Calvin Smith's (6th) regiment, being reported as transferred to field and staff March 1782. His name also appears in Col. Thomas Nixon's (6th) Regiment Massachusetts line, in return of men entitled to $80 gratuity for serving during the war. A certificate dated Boston, March 5, 1805, also states that said Bowen is entitled to land on account of services in the 13th Regiment, Massachusetts line.

Michael Bowen was a native of Cork, Ireland, and was educated in the University of Dublin. When a young man he emigrated to this country, and afterwards joined the Revolutionary forces in the war for independence. He was sometimes called "Major" because of his service as a fife major.

After the war he settled in North Haven, and engaged in farming and was also employed as a public school teacher. The first teacher in the old town of Vinalhaven, which then included North Haven and the present town of Vinalhaven, was John O'Brien, who was employed as such by Mr. Beverage, by whose aid he escaped from the British service. He remained in Vinalhaven but a short time. Aside from him, Bowen appears to have been the first public school teacher employed in Vinalhaven, and the only one for several years after his coming here, his engagements alternating between the North (North Haven) and the South (Vinalhaven) islands. He was well educated and his pupils made rapid progress under his tutelage. It is said he was a great lover of rum, and that when any of the boys in his charge had advanced as far in mathematics as the "Rule of Three," they were obliged to furnish him a gallon of his favorite beverage.

THE SAUNTERER

A. B. Crocker

We weighed our anchor, and then we got underway for a run down to Castle Island, and luffing up under the lee of the Fort we came to anchor to watch what was going on. This the main highway of "the sea," the sea, the deep blue sea," bearing upon its bosom craft of many types, ancient and modern.

Here comes the S.S. Nantucket, an iron ship, built in 1876 as a navy gun boat, and acquired in 1909 by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as a training ship for officers of the American Merchant Marine. She is bark rigged; while being propelled by steam, when she got outside the harbor she would make sail, the watches would be set, and the 145 cadets on board were on a three months trip to various ports of Europe, before the ship returns to Boston in September next.

"God bless her where'er the breeze Her snowy wings shall fan,
And the frozen Hebrides,
Or sultry Hindostan; Where'er, in mart or on the main,
With peaceful flag unfurled,
She helps to wind the silken chain Of peace around the world."

What is this? A collier. She is not a thing of beauty and a joy forever, but a coal bearer, built for service, not beauty. Now comes another type of craft, rusty and dingy, encrusted with salt, a beam trawler bound out for the fishing grounds. Here comes a schooner originally built in Ipswich, Mass., for a sailing fisherman; she still retains her masts and some sails, but she is being drawn by a Diesel engine and used only as an auxiliary.

Now comes a modest steamship bound for Savannah, and a freighter for Panama. And what is this craft rounding Deer Isle? My guess is the Cunard Scythia. She is not stop at quarantine, so she is from New York.

Good guess. As she passes, we see quite a quota of passengers on board; she will pick up more here, and they will sail for the auld and other isles. "Land ho!" "Whereaway?" "But three points on the starboard bow, Sir!" "North-east by North!" "Aye, aye, Sir!" N.C.C.

During a recent first night in New York people laughed and chattered and uttered as though they were at a murder trial.

BY DOUBLE CAST

Thrills Galore In "The Bat," Latest Vehicle of the Penobscot Players

Thrills, screams, murder; lights out! Mystery in the making—three acts of it! "The Bat!" The thrilling double cast mystery drama of Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, staged and produced by the versatile Marshall Bradford and many leading players of the coast last Friday and Saturday was the second play by this little theatre group. Its striking contrast to the first play of the season, "The First Mrs. Fraser," in which Miss Adelyn Bushnell played the lead, gave many the strong impression that this new movement of the theatre is going far beyond expectations.

For those not familiar with the story of the play: The first act brings to the stage white haired Cornelia Van Gorder, a veritable vegetarian, who has decided ideas about remaining in her Long Island home with her niece, her rollicking maid, and her stinking Chinese butler, despite the fact there remain outside influences of uncanny nature which try to terrorize her into leaving.

Naturally, being a woman of 60 winters, she has a doctor on the scene, and naturally her niece, being of attractive and alluring appearance has a lover. The latter, madly in love with Dale, the niece, has been charged with robbery of the bank in which he was cashier, but being innocent of the crime, disguises himself as a gardener in the home of Miss Van Gorder to get his bearings and solve the mystery of the missing money along with the weird and most unnatural happenings within the home of his love.

Nothing can shake his convictions that the former owner of the home has money hidden in a secret chamber, and nothing can be more distressing than to have Dale phone the nephew of the owner, Richard Fleming, and insist he visit her at a very late hour, in order to clarify all that has gone before by finding a blue print of the estate. A mere slip of paper... but Richard Fleming turns on his heel and refuses to give it to Dale. Lights out! A flash of fire from the staircase! Dale has her gun in her hand... but... did she murder him? Who was the murderer?

The city detective, the master mind, who gives no one else the credit of having brains, the determined, hard boiled, smooth voiferous person of the "Five star" regalia, played superbly by the leading Marshall Bradford, is the least of the group one would suspect. He is there on the scene to discover the motive of the crime, to find the missing cashier, to get the Bat, who is the most dangerous of criminals, and who always leaves his signature in Bat form after completion of a crime. Where is the Bat? Why is the doctor so strange and reticent in his actions? Who is the maniacal person locked up in the garage? Is the butler as innocent as he claims to be? Were it not for Izzie the maid who screams, chokes, flutters, and veils around the stage, giving forth a series of moans, ejaculations, and pleading to go back to the city, trying to find her "sacred" which, all unknown to her, holds the hidden money, the play would carry nothing but detail, action, seriousness, and romance, blended with mystery.

Izzie, spontaneously played by Grace Rollins of Rockland, and Abbie Doak of Belfast, carried the human laugh along with her whittled words.

The main action of the play would have meretriciously failed in its point had the lighting effect been any other than perfect. The humming, dial, flashing thunder and dim lights the blackouts followed by candle lighting effects were carried out with minute detail and cleverly staged.

Not until the last moment of intense nerve-racking breath-taking action in the third act, is the Bat otherwise known as Anderson the detective disclosed. The real Anderson had been introduced in the first act, and the Bat had played his part of murderous intent only to be discovered in the last second on the stage.

Every actor lived his part. Both actresses taking the part of Dale have been on the New York stage and in stock company travels, and the artistic personalities were well planned in both casts.

Cornelia Van Gorder was successfully played by Mrs. Doris Brewster of Camden, and Miss Elena Shute of Belfast. Izzie, by Grace Rollins of Rockland, who needs no introduction to her enthusiastic capabilities; and Abbie Doak of Belfast, Dale, was beautifully played by Theodora Pierce of Bucksport and New York, and Carolyn Durham of Belfast, New York and Boston; Lloyd Daniels of Rockland and Hillard Buzzell of Belfast played the questionable part of Dr. Wells Beresford, the chauffeur of Richard Fleming who added to the mixup of the crime, was well played by Kenneth Lovejoy, Belfast, and George Elmendorf, Searsport, Billy, the servant boy, was cleverly played both evenings by Wesley Patterson of Belfast. The Unknown alias the real Anderson, was played by Franklin Pierce of Bucksport both evenings. Anderson, Marshall Bradford, needs no introduction. Brooks, the partner, was played by Albert Dodge, Rockland, and Fred Fields, the grandson of Eugene Fields, author.

Those in the cast Friday evening who held their lines and also a certain grace and assurance on the stage were Mrs. Brewster, Grace Rollins, Theodora Pierce, and Franklin Pierce. Wesley Patterson carried his role with ease. The second step upward in the little theatre movement will not be forgotten, and with much anticipation Miss Adelyn Bushnell presents for the third play of the season her dramatic production "Time," which has recently been accepted in New York and will carry with its production a cast of chosen talent and Miss Bushnell's charming personality. This will be directed by Miss Bushnell herself and will be given July 1 and 2 at the Belfast Opera House.—Written by Sally Lowe.

GORHAM NORMAL

(By Addie I. Millett)

"The Lamp and the Bell," one of Edna St. Vincent Millay's well known plays, has been chosen for the class play of 1935. The play will be produced by the members of the graduating class Saturday evening. Those in the cast of local interest are Katherine True, Helen Stone and Rebecca Miller.

The commencement exercises of Gorham Normal School take place from June 15 to 17. The commencement program is: Saturday noon, banquet to the graduating class by the Alumni of Gorham Normal School. Members of the famous "Strawberry Class" which graduated in 1883 will attend. Saturday afternoon a reception given to the members of the graduating class by Dr. Walter E. Russell. Saturday evening the class play. Sunday afternoon the baccalaureate service in Russell Hall. Rev. Harrison W. Dicks will preach. Monday at 10 a. m. the graduation exercises; Rev. Hilda Libby Ives will be the speaker. Her subject is, "Lighting the Torch of Truth."

Among those graduating are Rebecca Miller of Tenants Harbor, Mary Stockbridge, Helen Stone of Camden, Katherine True of Hope, Elizabeth Dodge of Camden, Anita Gatti of Rockland, Mabel Esancy of Union, and Earle Achorn of Rockport. Mr. Achorn will sing in the semi-chorus in the graduation program.

Mary Sleeper of South Thomaston has been chosen as vice president of the new House Committee of Gorham Normal School. The House Committee is the governing body of the women's dormitories and consequently is a very important committee.

One of the junior divisions of Gorham Normal School has arranged in one corner of the library an exhibit illustrative of what a reading corner in a rural school may be. The corner contains books, current magazines, and other interesting reading material. Miss Ruth O'Brien and Miss Bernice Nutt of Rockport, assisted in arranging the library corner.

YOUNG FOLKS SHONE

In Mrs. Sanborn's Harmonica and Piano Recital — Mr. Hoxie's Boys

The Harmonica, Band and junior piano students of Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn, appeared in recital Monday evening, at the Universalist Church. In spite of a downpour a large and appreciative audience was present. The Harmonica Band was received with much applause, soloists being Miss Mary Perry, Charles Mouradian and George Robishaw. The youngsters made a splendid appearance in their white costumes, and played with an assurance and understanding that was thoroughly enjoyable. The group includes a wealth of talent that will be most interesting in its development.

The two piano numbers played by Miss Jones and Mrs. Snow were greatly appreciated. The program concluded with the request number, E. Major Waltz, of Moszkowski, by Mrs. Sanborn, who recently played in Portland. The ushers were Miss Lawry, Miss Jones, Mrs. Snow and Mrs. Harvey. Following is the program:

Duets were presented by Mrs. Nathalie Snow and Miss Nathalie Jones; Dudley Harvey and William Cummings; and Lolita Knight and June Chatto, and solos by Pauline Havener, Marie Berry, Jeannette Stephenson, Ruth Spear, Elaine Glendenning, Doris Gatti, Elaine Ames, Myron Cummings, Carl Work, Dudley Harvey, Pauline Spear, Betty McKinley, Nathalie Fossett, Shelby Glendenning, Norma Frost, Naomi Rackliff, Ruth Matthews, Dorothy Havener, Susan Abbott, Lolita Knight and June Chatto.

Albert Hoxie's Band

The Universalist Church was the scene of a most interesting musical event, in the appearance of Albert Hoxie and his Philadelphia Harmonica Band. Adjectives fail for this amazing group of young artists who have achieved an unbelievable perfection of musicianship. Mr. Hoxie, who is founder and head of the Harmonica Movement in America, devotes all his time to this work. He is an inspiration. At present the original band numbers 48. They have a repertoire of over 250 numbers, all of which they play from memory. The instruments of particular interest were the cello, chord and bass.

The program, which is played in original keys, and from authentic orchestrations, was mostly classical including such numbers as Song of India, Country Gardens, Espagosa, Indian Phantasy, Sousa Marches, Victor Herbert and two of the popular numbers, "Blue Moon" and "Smooth Sailing." Perhaps the highlight of musicianship was attained in the intricate chromatics and delicacies of the beautiful Caprice Viennois of Fritz Kreisler. The boys have attained such an excellency of technique that they are able to imitate the actual tones of violins to perfection. The Philadelphia champion played "Stardust," as Rubinfott has made it famous, also to perfection.

Mr. Hoxie and his boys travel over 4000 miles every year. This concert was possible through the courtesy of Mr. Hoxie who came to Maine to play at the Portland convention of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Sanborn expresses her thanks for the cooperation of everyone, particularly Supt. Toner.

The old Indian at the Dude ranch was busily whittling out arrows, who was being shown around. "What's his job," said the easterner who was being shown around. "Him? Him? Heep munitions maker," explained the redskin who was acting as guide—Portland Express.

JOHN McAULIFFE

John McAuliffe died suddenly at his home 15 Pearl avenue, Winthrop, Mass. last Saturday, passing away as he slept. The deceased was born in this city in 1869, but for many years had been in the employ of the General Electric Company, Lynn, having been retired on a pension several years ago. He worked around the house on the day prior to his death.

Mr. McAuliffe was married to the late Annie O'Connell of Worcester. He is survived by one brother, Patrick McAuliffe of Rockland; three sisters, Miss Lizzie McAuliffe, Waltham; Mrs. Nora McAuliffe, Worcester; Mrs. Ellen Manning of Providence; three children, Frank McAuliffe, Mrs. Annie Leighton and Mrs. Arthur Doherty, all of Winthrop.

The remains were accompanied by the children to Thomaston, where the burial was in St. James cemetery.
